

GALAH C.C

The Galah emblem.

The Galah CC originated in Country NSW by legendary President Allan Boyd. The Galahs are a group of Cricket Enthusiasts who travel the world each year playing against other Cricket Tragic's. Last year's Ashes itinerary saw them in Germany, France, Belgium, Luxembourg, Ireland, Northern Ireland and England. This year's Ashes tour in July/August sees them travel to Amsterdam, Iceland, Channel Islands (Guernsey, Jersey, Sark) and up to the Trent Bridge Test match.

The 2015 Thailand touring team comprises the following participants.

Peter Dickey (P Diddy)

A Schno'z that has got marginally smaller allegedly due to the removal of Cartilage for use in appendage enhancement surgery. Likely to look a million bucks as he has the best dress sense on tour. Useful meado and middle order batsmen returning to the cricket arena after an extended hiatus. Always a single available when hit to him in the field as he would not risk dirt under his manicured fingernails let alone his whites. Played one of the great Galah innings in Malaysia when confronted with rising humidity and a sweaty jock. Hard to dislodge when set.

After getting a bit of dirt on his big toe in 2013- spent 4 hours in a Phuket Hospital. Left the hospital with an unknown quantity of antibiotics- penicillin has been known to cure other "touring" ailments.

David Newham (Kid Rock)

Reflecting on previous editions, it is noted with shame the harsh words used to describe David. Red complexion attributable to the sheer embarrassment of not having the ability to back up the diatribe that effuses from his lips, an ego the size of an Ethiopian appetite, the shot power of a remote aboriginal prison settlement, when sledged he has the durability of Black & Gold toilet paper, a vocabulary range akin to Marcel Marceau, the wit of a Funeral Director, the fortitude of a wet sand castle, the resilience under fire of play-doh, about as enjoyable to have a conversation with as with a doctor who is in the middle of providing you a proctologic examination, the Shane Watson of Westerners cricket, at the Eels they call Chris Sandow the David Newham of Parramatta, the list goes on....

Still the current Galah Bachelor of the Year. A pre tournament warning has been given to Phuket locals to lock up their woman.

Has scored a plethora of runs on the field for the Galahs including a candidate for batsmen of the tournament last year assisting the Galah's in making the final.

Ben Watkinson (Coma)

Noted academic (KPMG Manager) with more degrees than wickets. From all reports Ben remains the fleetest of foot amongst the Westerners line-up. Despite the all round value Ben offers any team across each of crickets core disciplines, it is his extra-curricular exploits that ensure Ben is the first man selected in any touring party. His fastidiousness has now become almost farcical. It was firstly notable with simply his clothes and presentation that were immaculately cleaned, he then moved on to laundering money for sporting groups and various other undisclosed organisations.

His distaste for dirt and grime then evolved into daily body-on-body soap scrubs to ensure that he is squeaky clean. Of course, the roll-over policy needs to be in full swing. His big toes are known to have their own postcode.

Matthew Jones (Machine)

Last years tour made Chicka a living legend. Has a Phuket alley named after him following many ventures and finding himself in hilarious situations. Put the call out to the boys to ramp up some numbers knowing the Galah's have a month long European trip in July and Phuket may suffer. Played one of the great follickly challenged one handed sixes last year, and is known to sleep every 3rd day only. Will keep wicket (terribly) and open the bat with a green light from the Skip.

Danny Eljed (Dancer)

Danny is actually ageing well - he is becoming a more and more rounded cricketer every year. Still manages to confound batsmen who face him for the first time and are at a loss to understand where the ball came from and how he managed to deliver the ball without falling over. Making his 1st appearance for the Galah's and is sure to make his presence felt.

Shane Bulfin (Bully)

Looks just like Dickey except that he is taller, fatter, has less hair and is not as pretty. Another experienced cricketer, who might be likened to Mitchell Johnson insofar as the enormous gap that exists between their best and their worst cricket. Can play some classic strokes but displays the patience of a young man who has just slipped his hand into a girl's panties and not been slapped. Paying $1.04 to be first to be red carded.

Chris Alexander (Ivan)

Often confused with fellow Galah - Garry Rowe, due to their rotund guts and constant 4 day growth. More often he is seen in Bangkok where he is very well known in Nana's Candy Land Go Go Bar. Second year Phuket tour for Chris who when presented with a slowish half tracker last year played a memorable block. His illustrious run-up tends to panic batsmen but they soon realise his accuracy and pace are similar to a Chinese made B.B gun.
